

Three pointed star

You won't need a huge amp to drive it in this space, though. In another Triangle tradition, the BR08 is impressively sensitive with a claimed 92dB/W, which feels a little high in reality but doesn't detract from the basic idea that you don't need a volcanic power output to get the best from it.

OVERALL

There isn't anything I try on the Triangle that doesn't sound totally invigorating

Conclusion

The BR08 is a fine speaker full stop. It takes all of the positive qualities of the BR03 and adds drive, immediacy and excitement in keeping with the company's historic offerings. Vivid, fast and endless good fun, it deserves to be on any shortlist at the price ●
